

PRACTICAL AND CLINICAL INSIGHT INTO TODAY'S GENERAL DERMATOLOGY ISSUES

May 2005

SKIN & AGING

www.skinandaging.com

Is There Really a Shortage of Dermatologists?

With the controversial plan for industry-sponsored dermatology residencies, what will be the next step for solving the problem of too few dermatologists?

See page 38.

ALCHIMIE FOREVER EXPANDS LINE

The Alchimie Forever rejuvenating skin care line is expanding its 10-sku line with three new products, which will be available starting October 2004. The Kantic + Luxuriously Nourishing Cream was designed to heal and soothe extra dry skin during the cold winter months. This moisturizer uses jojoba seed oil and vitamin E. Kantic + is infused with antioxidants to help fight free radicals, and with red clover extracts to stimulate the skin's natural collagen production. The Kantic Mask is packed with antioxidants and oat extracts, which Alchimie says help to soothe and nourish the skin. The Q-switch Optimizing Body Contour Gel is enhanced with a leaf extract, caffeine, ginger and marine algae to visibly lift and tone skin. According to Alchimie, the gel helps minimize the appearance of cellulite, resulting in firmer-looking skin. ■

For more information on these products, visit www.alchimie-forever.com.

HMP COMMUNICATIONS