OBSESSION: ALCHIMIE FOREVER

In our results-driven culture, the melding of science and beauty can only be called organic. But the scary-sounding ingredients and hospital-like odors of many cosme-ceuticals are anything but. Can't a girl have drastic skin improvement and a fresh scent? Swiss beauty line Alchimie Forever says yes. The family-run company (dad's a dermatologist, mom's a medical researcher and daughter's an MBA living in DC) has developed a line of products that use scientific properties to improve skin texture, plus great-smelling plant, fruit and vegetable antioxidants to keep you all natural. Try Helium, a luxe in-shower body conditioner with rosemary and green tea, or Nd:YAG, a defense gel made with tumeric and tomato. Both will have you looking and feeling as fresh as the Whole Foods produce section—but with a much longer shelf life. Available at www.alchimie-forever.com. —K.T.
