great picks from local beauty lines

These D.C.-area hair and skincare companies make some of the most nourishing products around.

Alchimie Forever

We've become obsessed with the potent Diode serums from this luxe Swiss-developed, D.C.-based skincare line, which marries antiaging technology and botanicals like rosemary and red clover. alchimie-forever.com

DIODE 2 AGE DEFYING SERUM, $85 FOR SET, ALCHIMIE-FOREVER.COM

Sugar House

The expansive house brand of serums, cleansers, toners, exfoliants, and masks created by this Alexandria spa caters to all types of complexions (dry, oily, sensitive) and contains antioxidants to protect against environmental stress. sugarhousedayspa.com

COLLAGEN INFUSION MASK, $46, SUGARHOUSEDAYSPA.COM

Blinc Inc.

This eye-makeup-centric label produces the cult favorite Kiss Me Mascara, which forms water-resistant "tubes" around lashes for volume and length and lasts all day with just one application. blincinc.com

KISS ME MASCARA, $25, BLINCINC.COM

Biggs & Featherbelle

Baltimore-based sisters Kasey and Kelly Evick handmix their rich balms and bath products using all-natural vegetable oils, nut butters, and fragrant botanical oils, including marjoram and clary sage. biggsandfeather.com
