COLD COMFORT

Despite the dry conditions, winter used to bring some solace for city feet. Dashes through drifts were at least accompanied by some relief thanks to flat-heeled, wide-toed foul-weather wear. But now even the most sensible fashionista has a pair or two of pointy stiletto boots in heavy winter rotation. So come January our tireless soles are cracking and in the same high-heel-related pain we deal with every other season. The local geniuses over at Alchimie Forever have the fix. Meet '532nm,' a feel-good foot prescription that starts with willow extract to ease pain and inflammation. Next is a healthy dose of shea butter to soothe, soften and hydrate tootsies plus protect them from further damage—and watercress and jojoba for their antioxidant powers. It's one sure way to put your best cold-weather-foot forward! Alchimie Forever products are available at several spas and by calling 877.920.7546 or visiting www.alchimie-forever.com. —K.A.
